About Us

FlyWays is the collection of three of the top dove shooting lodges in Cordoba, Argentina. For years, Los Chanares, Sierra Brava and Posta del Norte lodges have been considered the “best of the best” when it comes to Argentina dove hunting. In 2011, we created FlyWays as the umbrella company covering Argentina’s most exclusive line of wingshooting lodges. Even though each FlyWays lodge has their own distinct strengths, there are five things that are consistent among the collection:

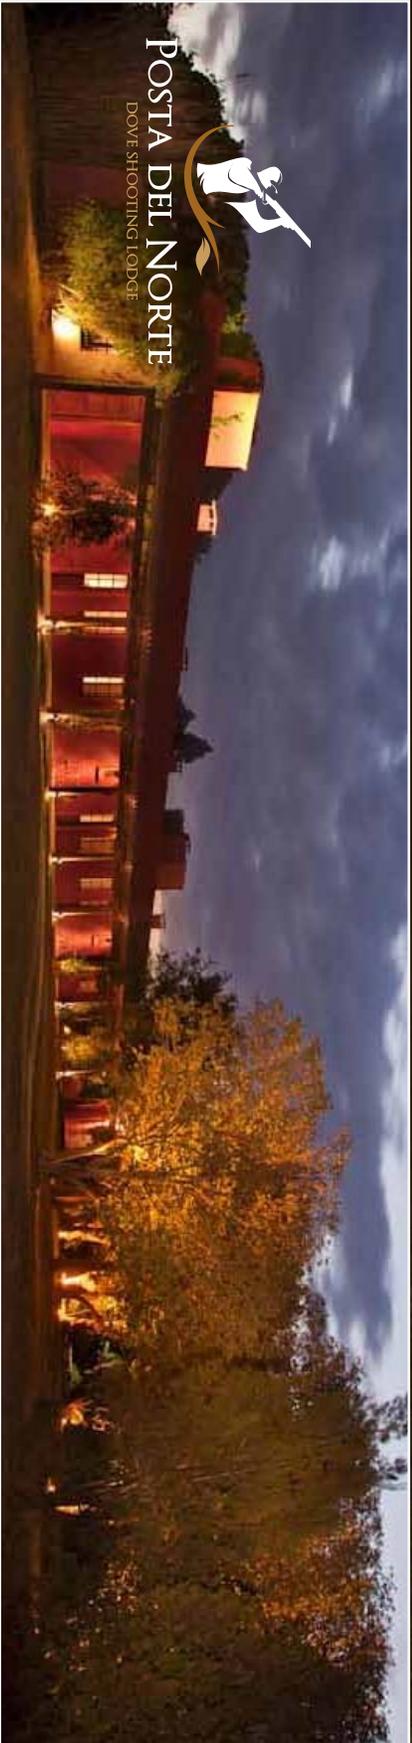

- World Class Dove Shooting
- Incredible Food and Wine
- Over-the-Top Service
- Clean and Comfortable Accommodations
- Unbeatable Pricing

The Shooting

- Exclusive Rights to Best Fields in Cordoba, Argentina
- Hosted World Record Holder Todd White in 2010
- Perfected Only Game Management Program in Cordoba
- Over 100 High Quality Shotguns Available for Rent
- Unforgettable Field Lunches

"I just talked to the Edquist group, and have never heard people more excited and grateful about a trip!!! These guys didn't just have a great time, they had a magical experience...one that only the Sierra Brava crew can provide!!! You always make people feel like family and make sure everyone has a great time. Nobody in the business does a better job combining first-class service and professionalism with good-hearted, fun-spirited hosting. There are a lot of places someone can shoot 1,000 doves, but there is only ONE Sierra Brava."

David Bodai, Trip Organizer.

“The full day on Sunday was the best dove shooting I have done in Argentina so far. This is just what the English guns like – lots of driven birds and all heights great for our style of shooting. The lodge was very nicely laid out and very cool. Perfect for a party from England, private and the group can be all together without having to share rooms!! Leo was charming and a very good host!”

Edward Watson, UK.
